
Introducing Tea Drunk

THE MET

For a limited time only enjoy authentic Chinese teas and light delicacies from the East Village tea house, Tea Drunk.

Our Passion

Every spring we travel to the deepest mountains in China to eat, sleep and work alongside the heritage farmers to produce the world's most prized teas. We walk an untrodden path to preserve a 2000-year old art that is the epic romance between man and nature.

Our Tea House

Our tea house in New York City is a destination for those seeking exceptional tea and tea knowledge. A popular spot for food and wine connoisseurs, local scholars and artists, Tea Drunk offers a unique cultural experience blended with a universally romantic inspiration. It's leisure time which offers intellectual exploration.

Our Tea

We commission all of our teas in the most conservative fashion to bring discerning connoisseurs the essence of historical teas. Every tea in our selection is harvested for only 10 to 15 days a year from renowned mountains that have been historically hailed by emperors and artists alike. Every bud and leaf is handpicked and handcrafted meticulously with time perfected artisanship. No one batch can be recreated just as nature cannot be duplicated.

Monday–Thursday & Sunday: 10 am–4:30 pm

Friday & Saturday: 10 am–3:30 pm

Second-floor balcony overlooking the Great Hall