The Renovation of the Great Hall

Photographs by Maude Dorr

In a scene suggesting Piranesi’s wildest fantasies, the Great Hall was filled with scaffolding last winter while the stonework was cleaned. This renovation of one of New York's noblest interior spaces was made possible by a gift from Lila Acheson Wallace.
The men whose skills are responsible for the Great Hall's reconstruction.